Q7.Comprehension

4 M

One day a crow sat on the window of Raj's house. The mother said that the peacock is our national bird. The crow became angry on hearing this. He thought that India is his country and why should he not be the national bird. Being a ugly black bird, he is not as pretty as peacock. He flew away and went where the peacock lived. He stuck some feathers of a peacock on his black feathers and pretended to be a peacock. He went into the group of the peacocks but all the peacocks asked him to leave as it looked strange. Then it flew away and came to the group of crows. The crows also told him to leave as he looked strange. The crow became sad and said to himself not to pretend to be someone else. Then he removed the feathers and happily joined his group of crows.

Answer the following

1. Who was sitting on the window of Raj's house?
